

Easier iPad Air Typing via Type+

Written by Bob Snyder
06 October 2014

---

Logitech announces the Type+-- a protective case for the iPad Air offering two-sided protection and an integrated Bluetooth keyboard for laptop-style tablet use.

According to the company the redesigned keyboard better replicates the laptop experience, as it features "optimised" distance between keys. It also includes a dedicated row of iOS shortcuts allowing users to navigate the iPad without need to touch the screen.

Another Type+ feature is automatic on/off-- it automatically switches on when the user positions the iPad upright, and turns off when it is closed. In addition an auto-wake and auto-sleep feature turns the iPad off when the case is closed, and wakes it up when opened.

The Logitech Type+ is available from October 2014 in "carbon black" and "mars red orange" in select markets.

Go Logitech Type+ Brings Improved Typing to the iPad Air