Huawei goes to Germany and announces the Ascend G 615, a quad-core mid-range smartphone with a 4.5-inch 720p IPS display.

It carries a 1.4GHz processor, 2150mAh battery, 1GB RAM and 8GB built-in storage (expandable via microSD slot), as well as 1.3MP front- and 8MP rear-facing cameras.

The OS of choice is Android 4.0 (Ice Cream Sandwich), but Huawei says a Jelly Bean update will be available from March 2013.

The Huawei Ascend G 615 is available now in a number of European markets.
